THE CONFERENCE

The international conference on Computational Linguistics in Bulgaria (CLIB) is organised by the Department of Computational Linguistics (DCL) at the Institute for Bulgarian Language, Bulgarian Academy of Sciences with the participation of colleagues from Sofia University and Plovdiv University.

The first CLIB edition was held in 2014. About 100 people attended the event, including representatives of Bulgarian technological companies. The Conference was welcomed by the scientific community.

The second CLIB edition (CLIB 2016) will be held on 9 September 2016 in Sofia. The programme will feature oral presentations and a poster session.

This year, the invited speaker will be Dr. Preslav Nakov of the Qatar Computing Research Institute, HBKU.

Our Mission

The Department of Computational Linguistics was the local organiser of the 51st Annual Meeting of the Association for Computational Linguistics (ACL 2013) in Sofia. The event hosted more than 1,200 delegates from around the world, including scientists and representatives of sponsoring global technological companies, such as Google, Microsoft, IBM, Yahoo, Facebook, Baidu, Yandex, among others.

During a meeting of Bulgarian computational linguists co-located with ACL 2013 many colleagues highlighted the acute need for a more active cooperation between the scientific community in Bulgaria and Bulgarian scientists abroad.

CLIB's mission is to respond to this need by creating a forum for sharing scientific research and achievements for Bulgarian and other languages made by Bulgarian scientists in Bulgaria and abroad. We believe that through establishing partnerships and exchanging ideas and experience with Bulgarian colleagues abroad, the computational linguistics community will be able to further the development of language technologies and services for Bulgarian.

CLIB 2016 affords an opportunity to technological companies to exchange innovative ideas and know-how and to establish cooperation with the community and promising young scientists and Ph.D. students working in language technologies.
